

Moinak Biswas is Professor of Film Studies at Jadavpur University. He is also the Coordinator of the Media Lab, a centre for experiments in digital forms, at Jadavpur. He writes on Indian cinema and culture.

Among his publications are 'Apu and After, Revisiting Ray's Cinema' (2005), and 'Ujan gang baiya' (2018 (1990)). He edits the 'Journal of the Moving Image' and was one of the founding editors 'BioScope, South Asian Screen Studies'. He has written and co-directed the award-winning Bengali feature film 'Sthaniya Sambaad' (2010) and has recently created the installation 'Across the Burning Track', commissioned for the 11th Shanghai Biennale, 2016.

Dr. Jayanthi Kumaresh is India's torch bearer worldwide for the Saraswathi Veena, the National Instrument of India. An artiste, collaborator, composer, researcher, creator, pioneer, and educator – Dr. Jayanthi's life achievements over 30 years, truly embodies the rich musical heritage of India.

She began playing the Veena since age of 3 and is one of the youngest veena artistes to receive the A-TOP grading, the highest from All India Radio.

She has received many awards in India including "Sangeetha Choodamani", "Kalaimamani" by the Govt. of Tamil Nadu, "Veena Naada Mani", "Kala Ratna", "Sathyashree", "Gaana Varidhi", is an eight-time recipient of The Music Academy, Chennai's "Award for Veena" to name a few.

C.P. Padmakumar Foundation, M.P. Appan Nagar, Vazhuthacaud, TVM, +919895318323

C.P. Padmakumar Reminiscence

May 12, 2018

Kanakakunnu Palace, Trivandrum

A man who walked a unique and solitary path, C.P Padmakumar never compromised on his concepts of the art of film making.

As one for whom art and life were never separate, Padmakumar's presence was inspiring. Let us get together to share and cherish our loving memories of him.

This is also a day of remembrance of the renaissance period of Indian cinema and the evolution of a totally new film culture.

We are privileged to have on this occasion the esteemed presence of Sri Moinak Biswas, a pioneer of this movement.

Kindly grace the occasion with your presence.

C. P. Padmakumar Foundation

2018, May 12, Saturday
Kanakakunnu Palace
6:00 p.m

C.P. Padmakumar Memorial Lecture
Sri Moinak Biswas

Followed by

Veena Recital
Dr. Jayanthi Kumaresh